FOREWORD

Forty-seven years ago a spark was enkindled—a school was born. Twig, faggot and log; log, faggot and twig—the fuel was added slowly, carefully—a school grew.

Year by year the autumnal blaze spread, the flame fanned by the breath of the Spirit of God—a school expanded.

This year, out of the conflagration of accumulated years, Eastern Mennonite College and Eastern Mennonite High School send out separate annual records. We, the High School, in whom the fires of the past and of the present brightly burn, are happy to present the Advancing toward the Capitol, seniors are prepared to test the government book against government in action.

Why can't we stand here? We paid for this place!

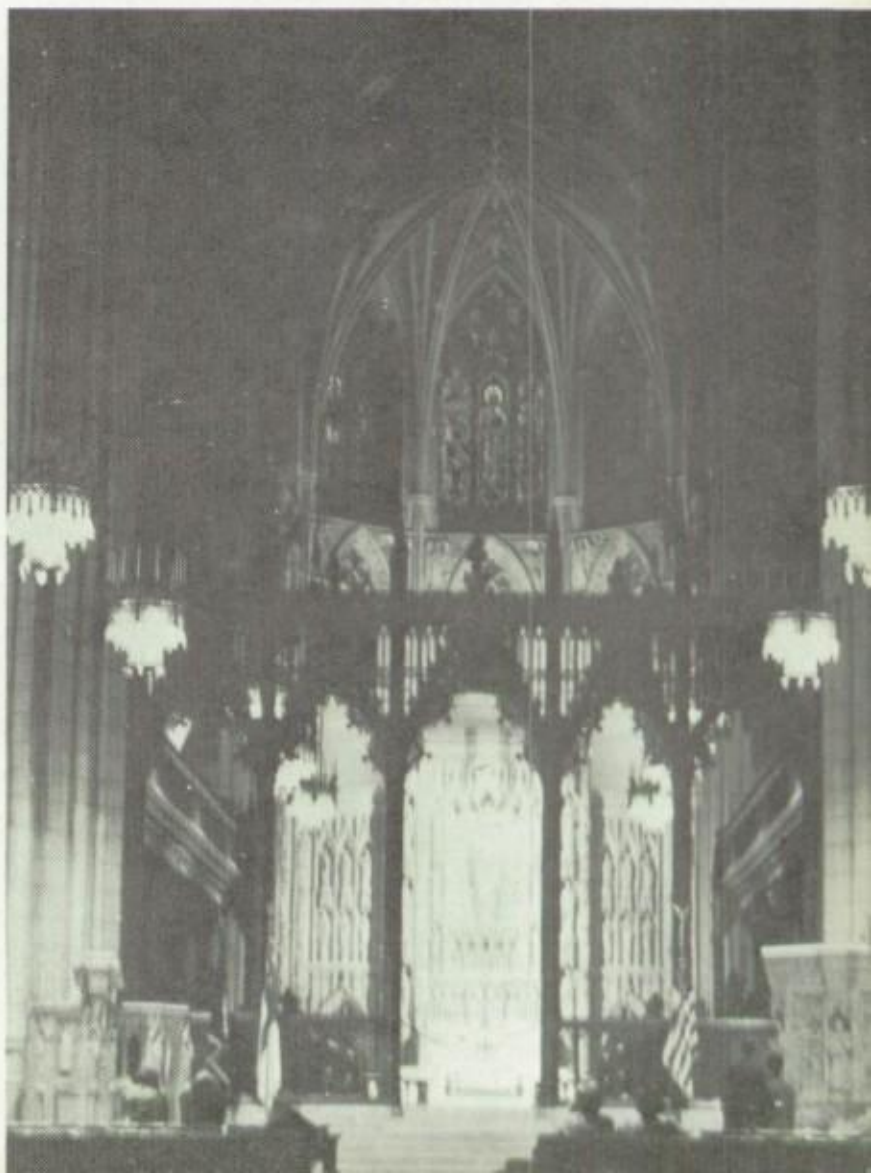
While the President lay in state, the flags at Washington Monument flew at half mast.

More fun - Money-making, Motel, Museums,

This was Washington.

At the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington we crowded to see the change of guard.

After the mad rush from place to place, we welcomed the solemnity of the Cathedral with its majestic arches and altars.



Amazing, Miss Sensenig!

Are you really positive, mutt?

After a long day walking through Williamsburg some people just couldn't wait for their beds, and others looked forward to more fun.

The juniors felt a certain familiarity with the first settlers as they boarded the Discovery.

Then the next stop was home. Each junior, feeling rather inane and sleepy, settled down for a comfortable rest.

It seems a shame to defame such honorable citizens in such a public place.

NG ACTIVITIES

If you are a senior and like hard work, there's physics. This class brings initiation on the behavior of waves (right) and timely lectures between experiments by Mr. Joe Mast, teacher (above).

Science

Perhaps Sharyl Beachy takes chemistry because she plans a nursing career. Here the chemists check to make sure the stuff in the crucible is not about to explode or blow up.

Every sophomore takes biology. Today this means taking notes industriously as Mr. Floyd Mast lectures on the oxygen-carbon dioxide cycle.

Science

Earth science appears to be holding the attention of the freshmen quite well. We'll ask Mr. Hampton to see the quiz scores!

The typing room—where one goes to make purposeful noise. Typing class can be quite frustrating, especially those timed writings; and it takes a lot of practice, too.

Business

For problems in bookkeeping, Mr. Wenger is available to answer questions. Harold Beachy decides it's easier to add his figures on the machine while the others exercise their brain muscle.

Learning how to converse, proper manners, how to listen, and how to give a speech: these are goals in Oral Expression. Everett Ressler addresses the class to a near-attentive audience.

Oral Expression

Language

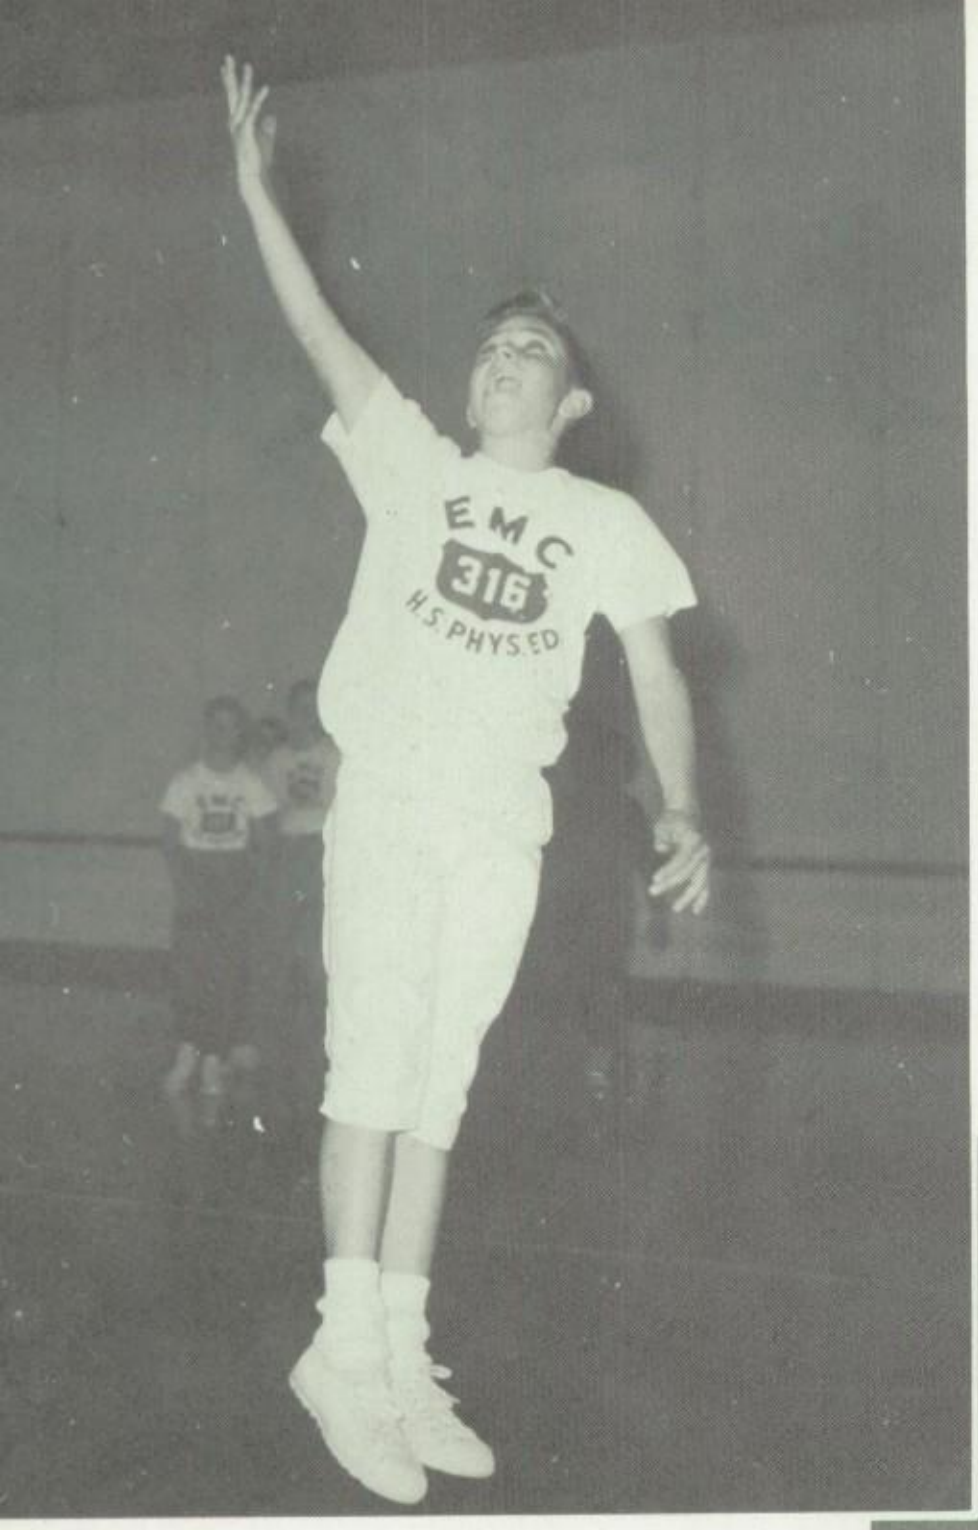
For Mrs. Bowman teaching German is simplified occasionally to the turning on of buttons; and the German flows right in to the students' heads. Erma Wenger (right) makes an A with special concentration.

The students in Mrs. Horst's Art I class have learned that a slip of the knife may spoil an intricate design.

Art

Home Economics

Home Ec I or II is a prerequisite for Home Ec III. Here Miss Bumbaugh's Home Ec III girls complete work on garments or having completed them, sit around and wait for work.



Physical Education

Take it from an eighth grader, it's real talent—acquired in phys ed class.

Miss Emily Strong, girls' phys ed teacher, has no trouble motivating eighth grade girls to play basketball today.

Once a month the chairmen for all the committees meet to share their problems and successes in their Y work during the past month. Often a guest speaker is asked in to encourage and to show the Y new methods of serving God. The Y P C A is not a young organization, and yet it is one in which new experiments are always put to use as the students serve Christ.

Virginia Mennonite Home guests get set to listen to the song page — somebody tell Everett Ressler that number again, please.

Windsock

Assistant editors and creators of Jerriken Jargon pose: Seated: Helen Martin, Orpha Weaver, Lois Martin; Standing: Jerrel Weaver, Kenneth Lehman, Barbara Brunk, Joseph Gascho, Larry Fisher, Lowell Wenger.

The Windsock, our bi-weekly high school paper, does a good job of keeping the student body informed about everything from the election of a new high school director to the slips of tongue here on campus. The editors and reporters are dedicated to making this publication as entertaining and also as educational as possible. They have done a good job of it!

People who have middle names like Royal, Remington, and Underwood are invaluable to Windsock: Lois Layman, Pat Miller, Joyce Deputy, Florence Bowman.

It takes organization to get the Windsock staff to work together efficiently.

David Thompson, president; Donald Burkholder, treasurer; Florence Bowman, secretary; David Glanzer, vice-president.

Student Council

Operation Booklift

What a sad sight! Our library was no more. All that anyone could see were stacks and stacks of books. Each student made two trips to the new building. Some didn't realize how long the walks were and took loads almost too big to handle. The stacks were laid in order on the library floor. It was a big job done, but they still had to be placed on the shelves. A few willing volunteers pitched in, and the new library was soon in order.

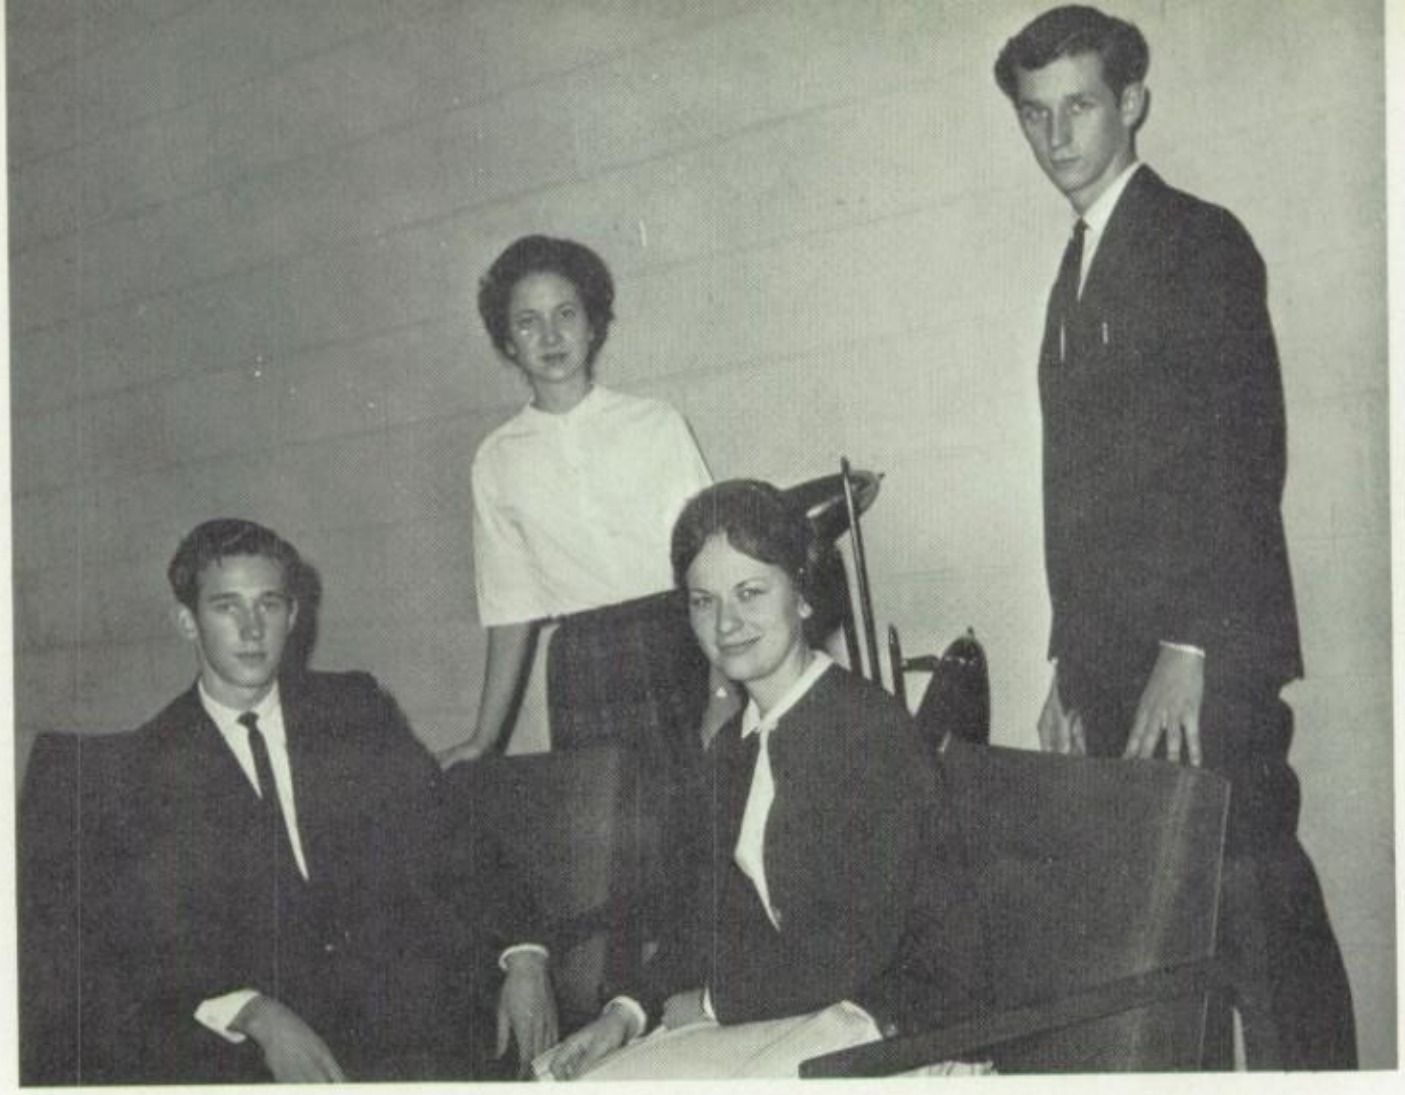
Philomathean Literary Society

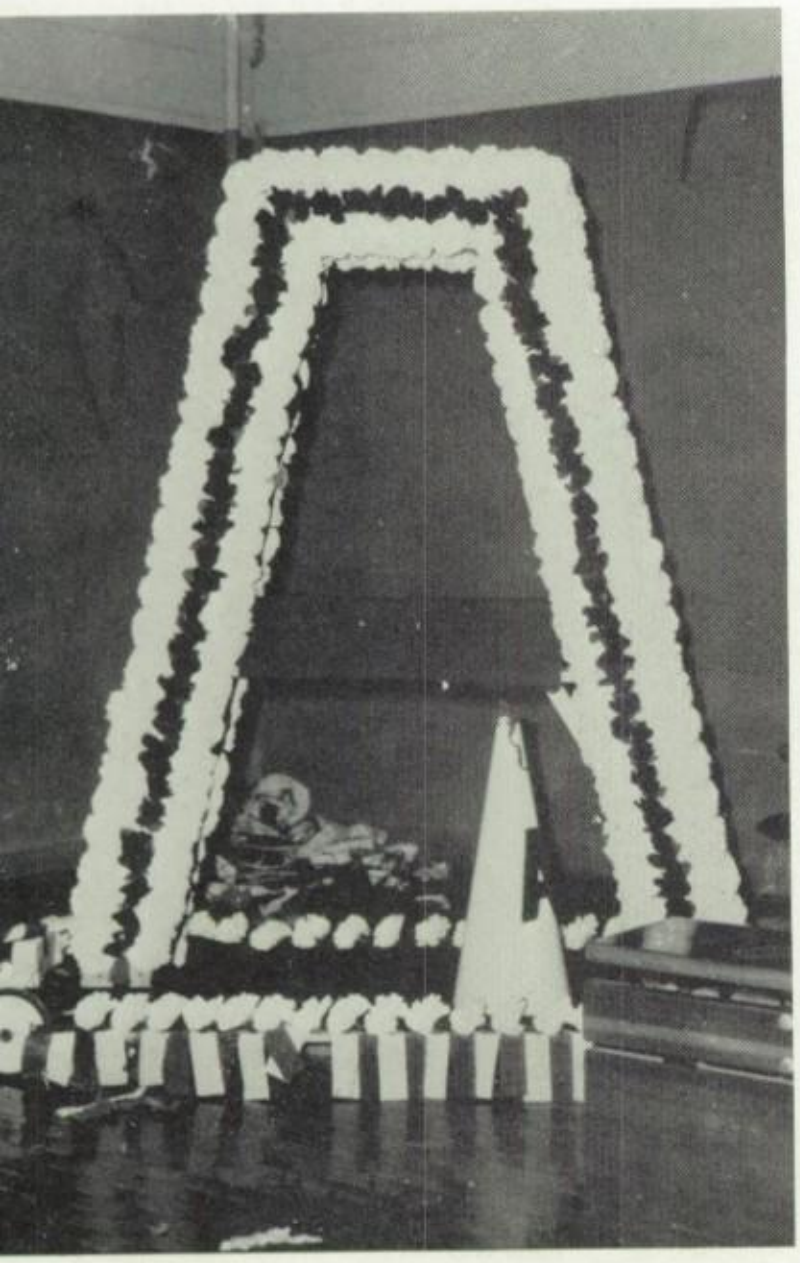
the production of "The Ransom of Red Chief," am (Lamar Wyse) tries to protect Bill (John chaefer) from the Indian war methods of Red hief (Robert Snyder).

The two points putting the Phillies in the lead drew this reaction.



Seated: vice-president, Wayne Longenecker; treasurer, Marilyn Mayer; Standing: secretary, Shirley Buckwalter; president, Sanford Beachy.

Armerian Literary Society



Long hours of work are put into contest game decorations.

The one-point victory seemed almost unbelievable.

Phillie Literary Society

"Then why . . . why, you said you did rob it, but you took nothing?"

"Maybe she go, maybe she don't go, sometimes she's afraid to go . . ."

The Enemy

"Well, Atticus, I was just saying to Mr. Cunningham that entailments are bad an' all that . . ."

"Shot, precipitated, down titanic glooms of chasmed fears."

Armerian Literary Society

Was Myself

All right who's late?

"Oh, Lamb of God, I come to Thee."

Adelphian Literary Society

Cold hands and an empty feeling go with the moment before introducing contest.

Seated: President, Glendon Heatwole; vice-president, Cheryl Miller; Standing: secretary, Elizabeth Heatwole; treasurer, Steve Weaver.

"Man of toil and trouble that I am, who will rescue me from this body doomed to death?"

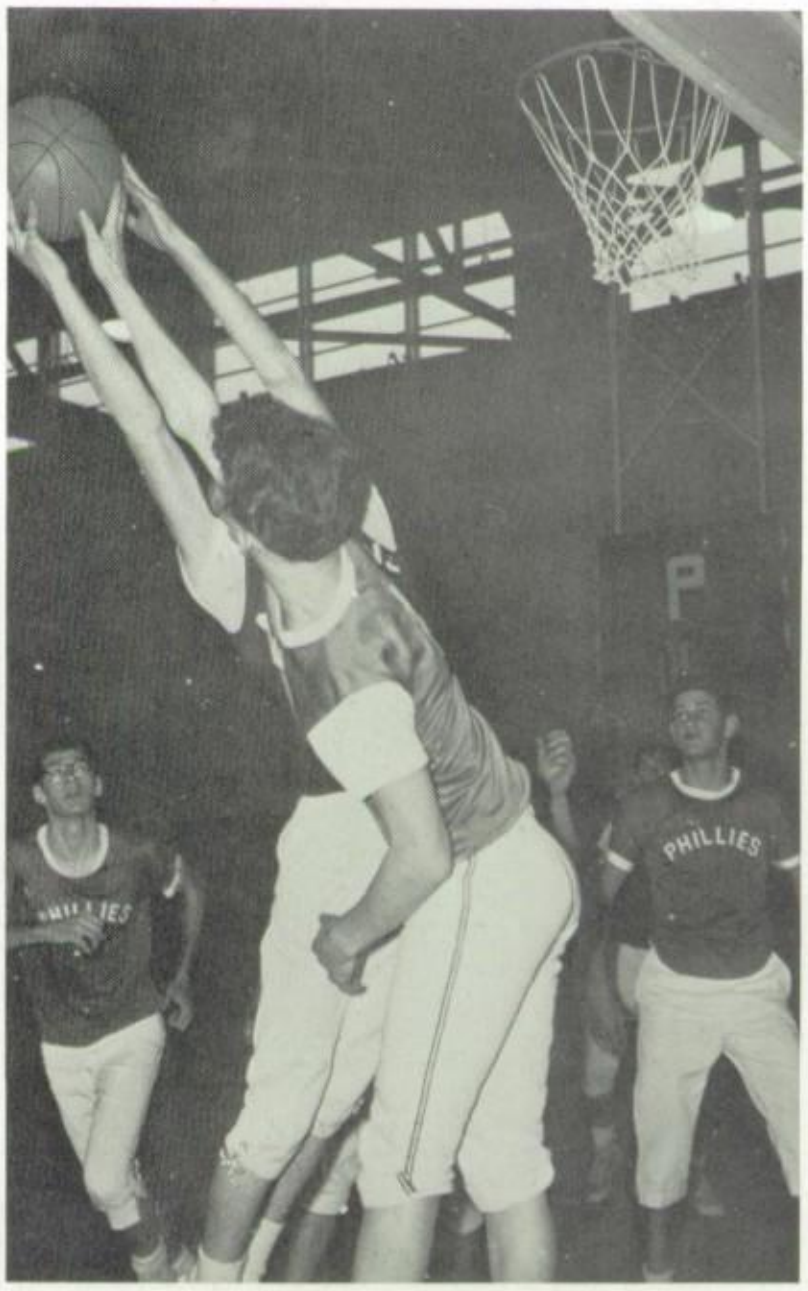
Contest: 45-44		Armerian Victory

As Don moves in for a lay-up, Joe blocks it for a jump shot.

Don and Wayne use the exercises they learned in phys ed.

A couple more inches and Ron may get the ball.



Marty, the Phillie ace, makes sure of this rebound.

The Armerians try to relax during a two-minute time-out.

Okay, you girls, now just don't let the Armerians shoot!

rmerian guard, Arneda Shank, attempts to block Helen Godshall's shot.

Lois Martin will do anything to get the ball.

Orpha Weaver believes in going her own way.

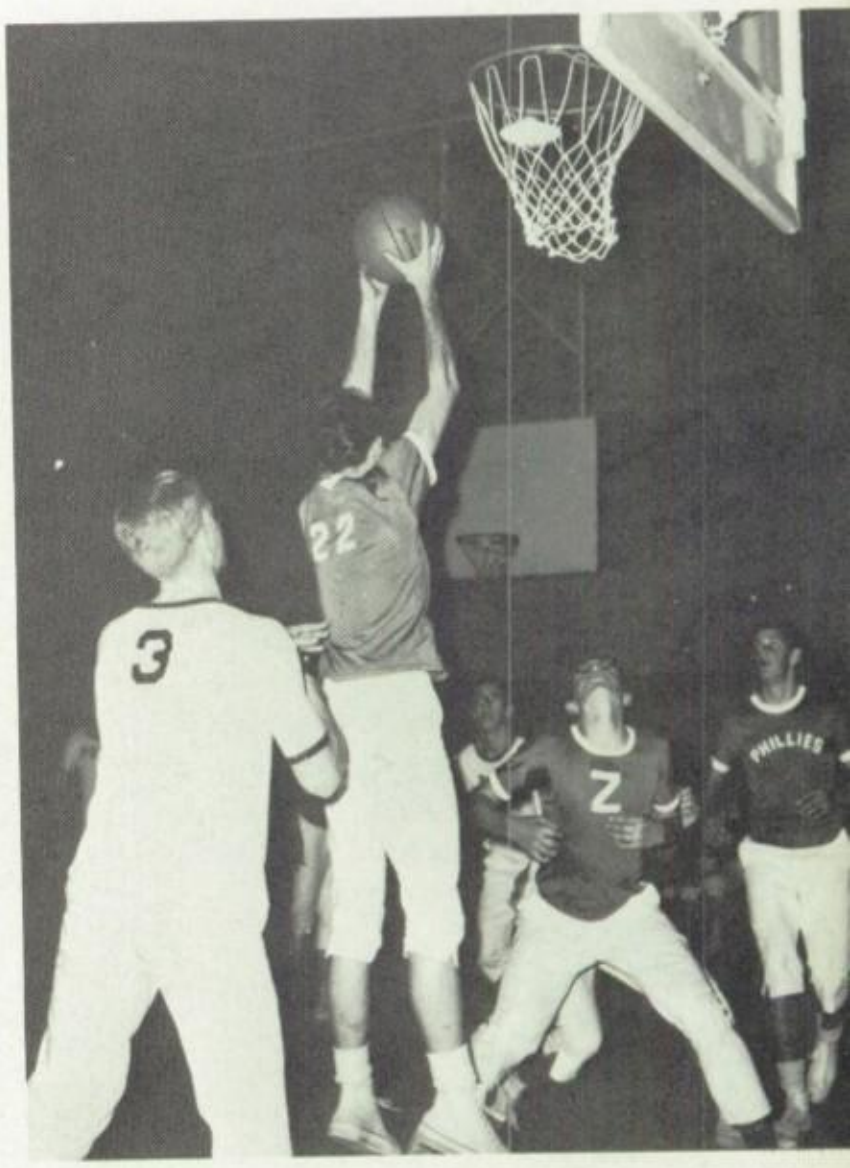
High School Basketball Team

Promethean Jim Longacre strains but doesn't make it.

This gang doesn't look exceedingly enthusiastic.

High School Team Games

Is it possible that Wayne didn't get enough sleep last night?



It's not hard to get a rebound when no one else tries.

Registration Day

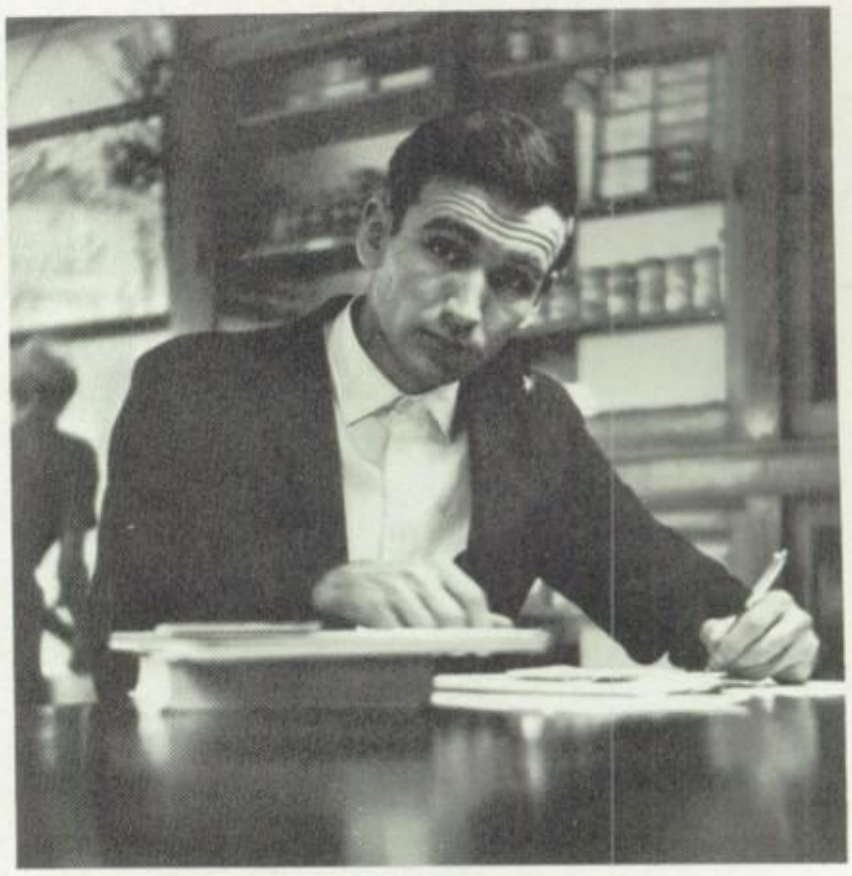
A long wait in line and then questions and more questions.

Join the sophisticated society; anyway, you look great in maroon.

Hey, Jerrel, they're all coming this way. Is my smile broad enough?

Wendell, getting a head start, signs his name to the YPCA membership cards.

The faculty outing begins plans for the coming year.



In your report, Mary Lois, are you talking about amoeba or planarian?

Faculty Informals

Monsieur Mast, Miss Beachy's personal dress designer, points out an accent point.

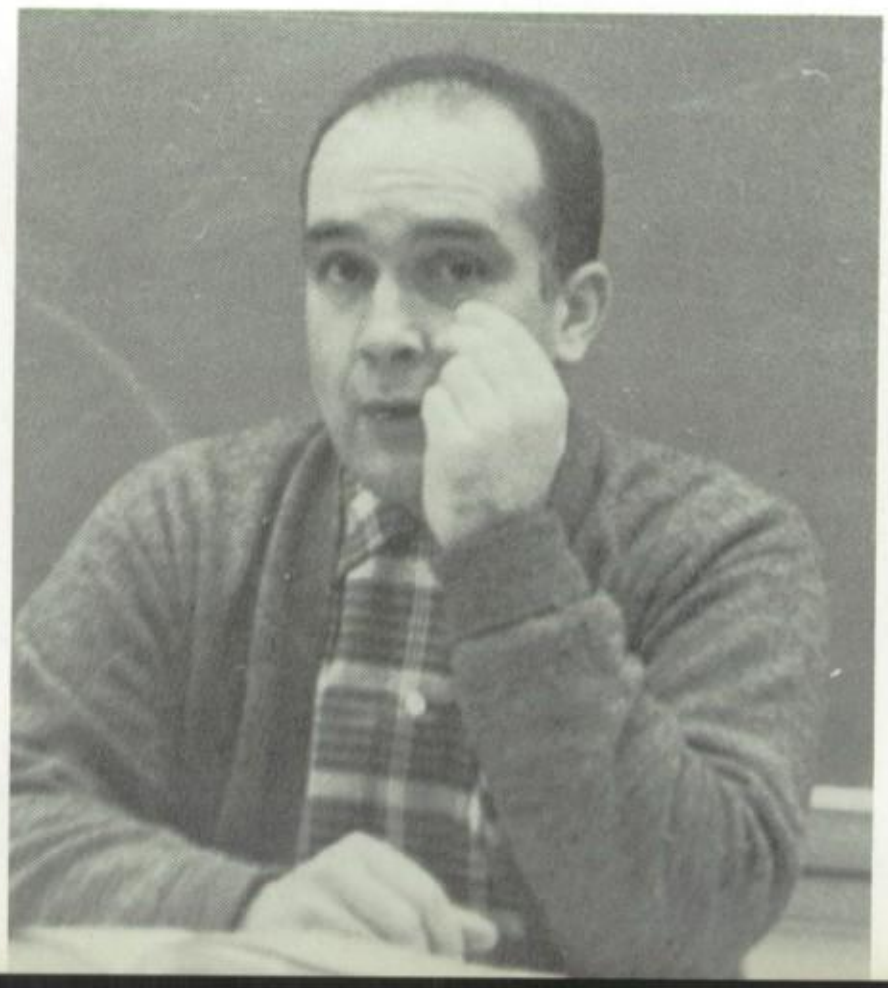
Have plant, will travel.

Even the faculty like to adventure into the world of make believe.

Both Jim's are broke; consequently, it is only water for the girls today.

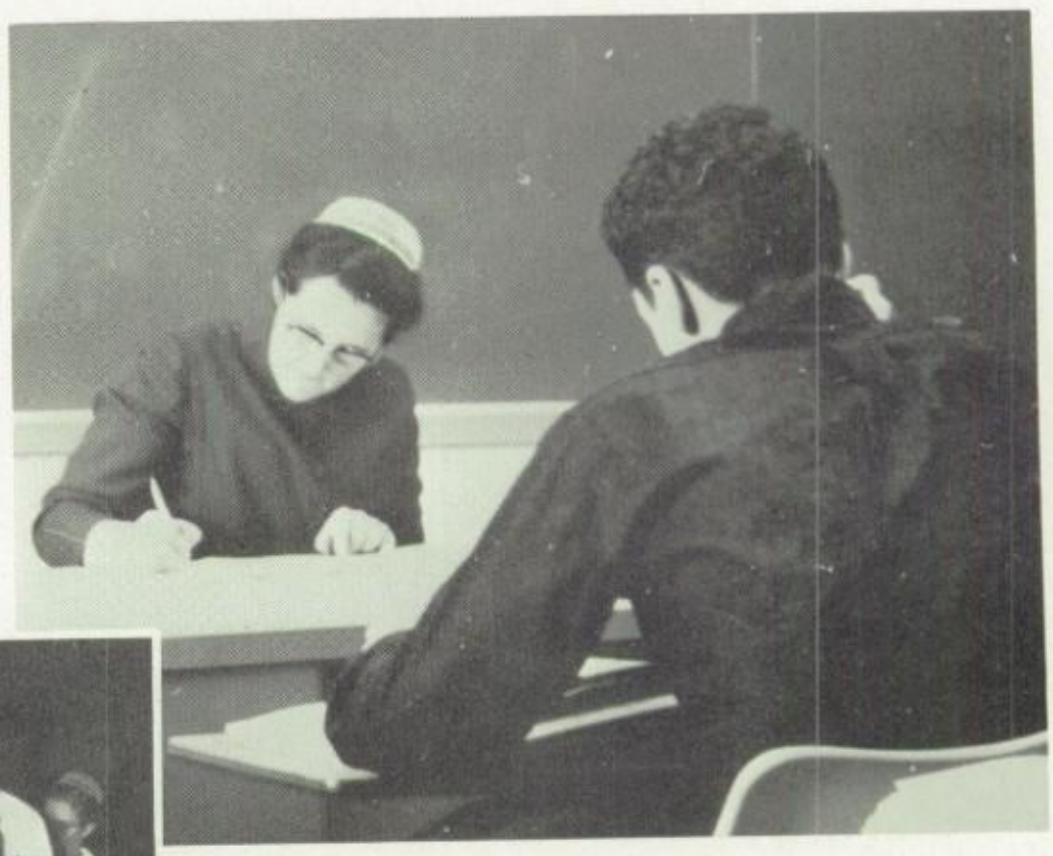
The game has a different effect on everyone.

First cast the beam out of your own eye!



I'm sure there is a mistake somewhere.

Solitary confinement?



Students aren't the only ones who have to work hard.

Miss Halteman is making sure she gets at least one hot dog.

Camping out and the smoke give the girls an especially big appetite.

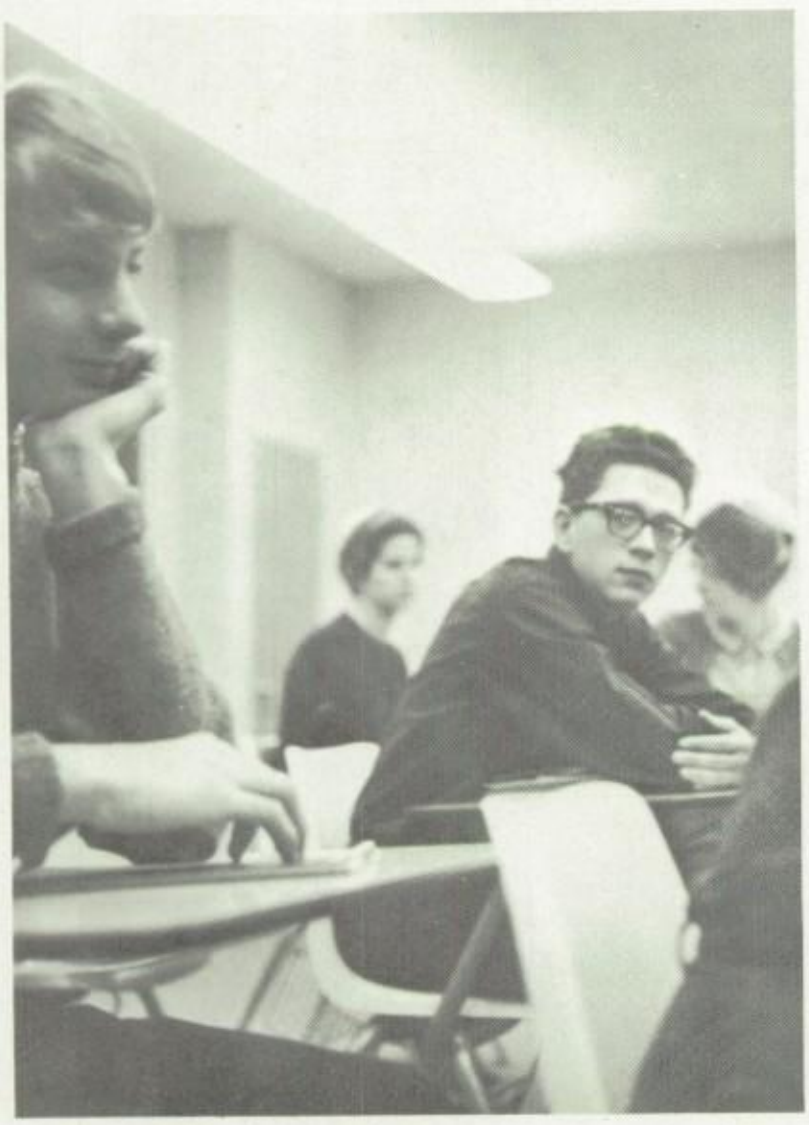
Up at the college there was always a little time for exchanging news.

Now smile!

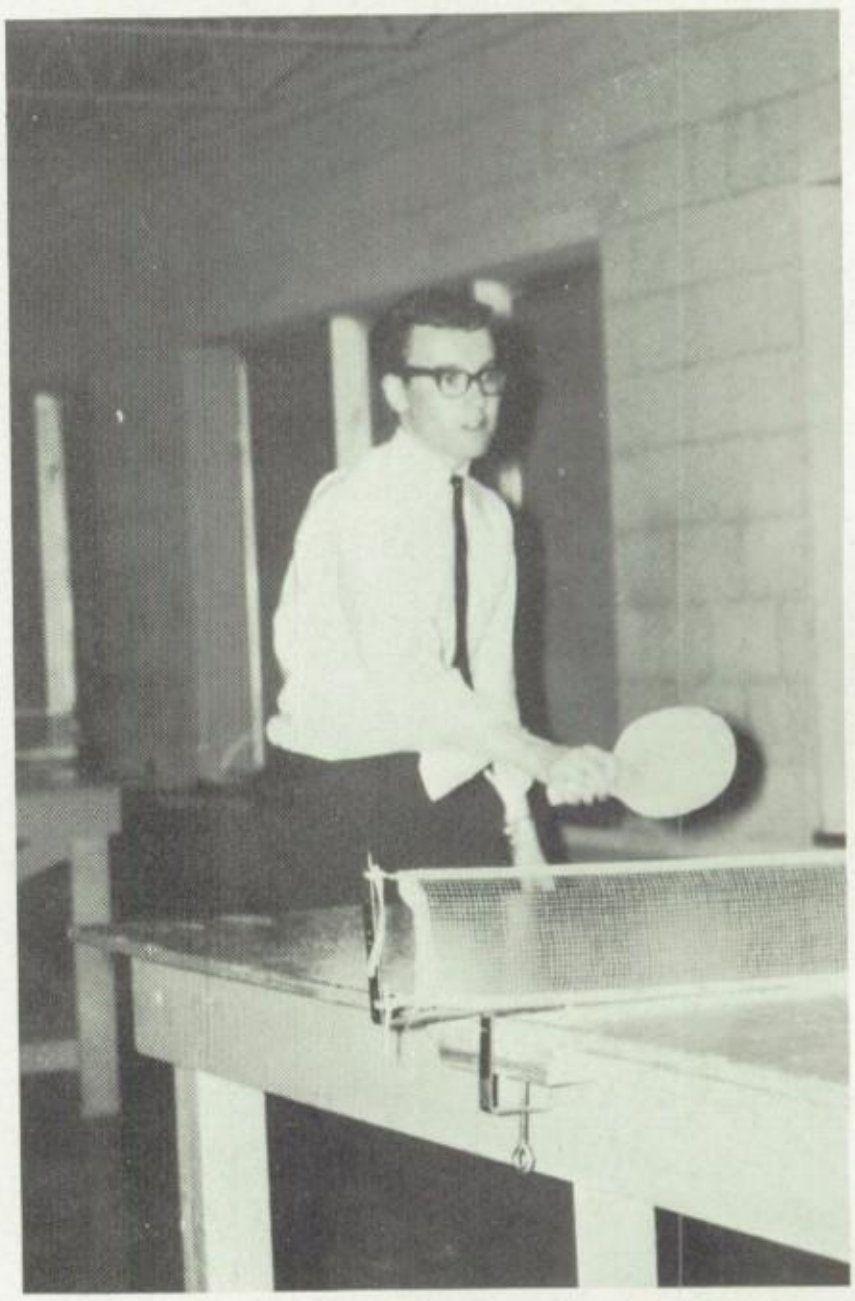
Whew! I feel like I've had it!

Ann's shorthand comes in handy when trying to keep up with Mr. Miller's lecture.

Now this takes an accurate eye and a steady hand.



Seniors do anything but listen to a lecture.



Danny is trying to play a relaxing game, but it looks like he's working hard.

I know I put it in here yesterday.

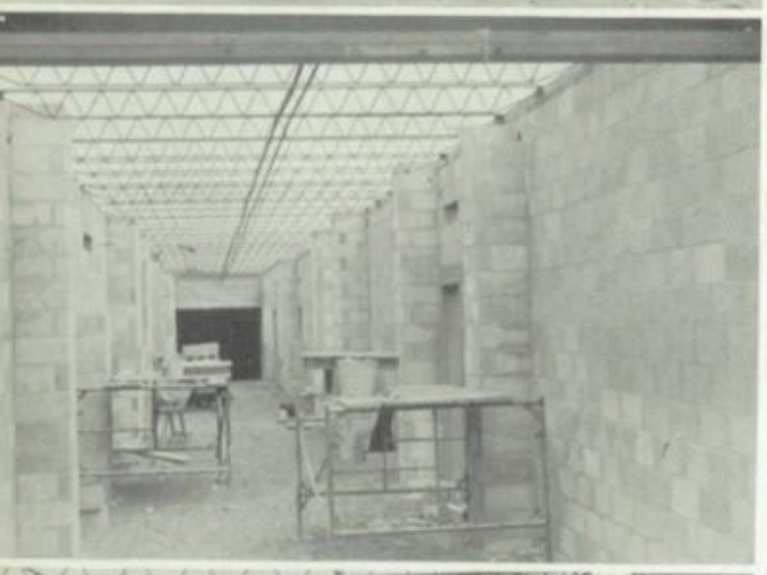
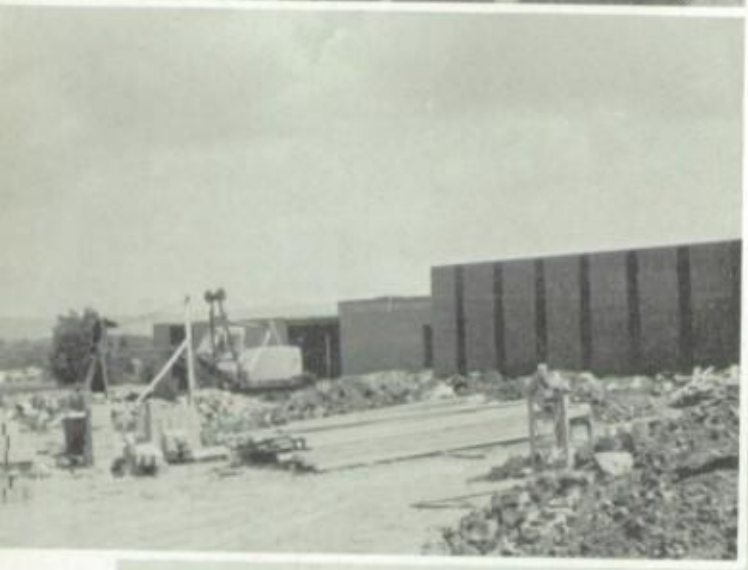
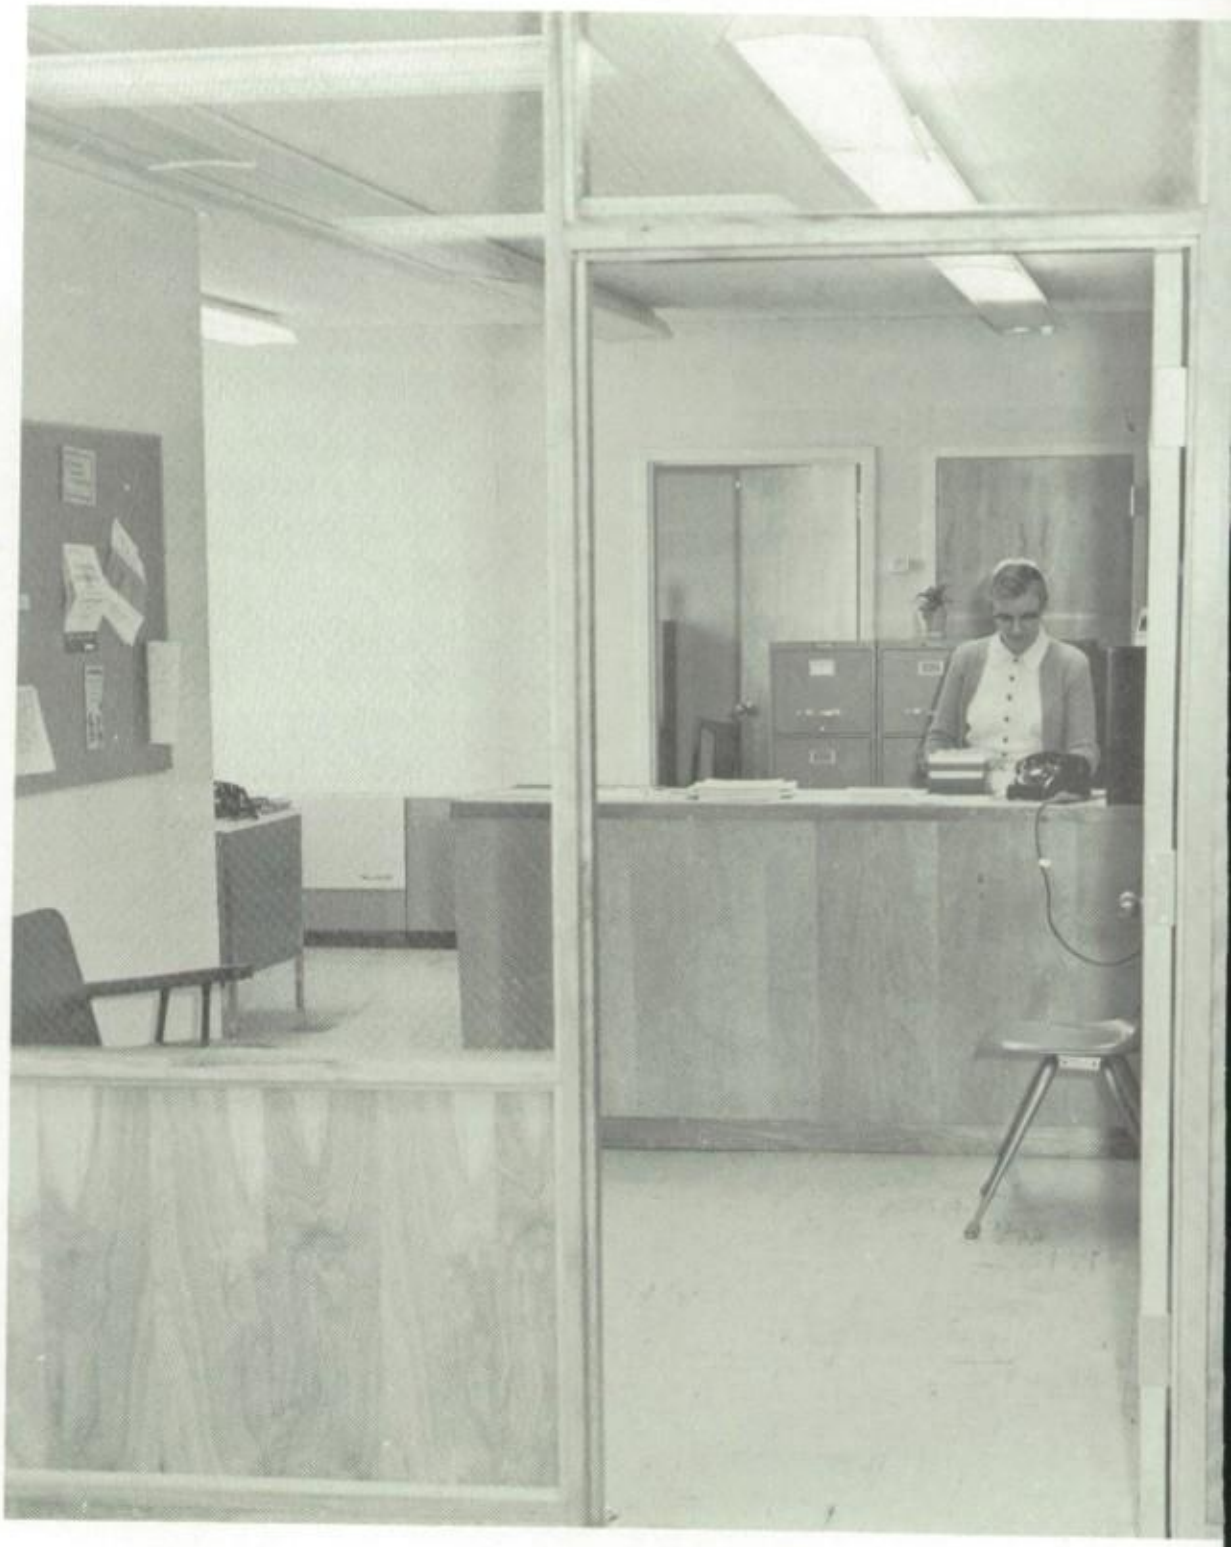
ADVANCEMENT

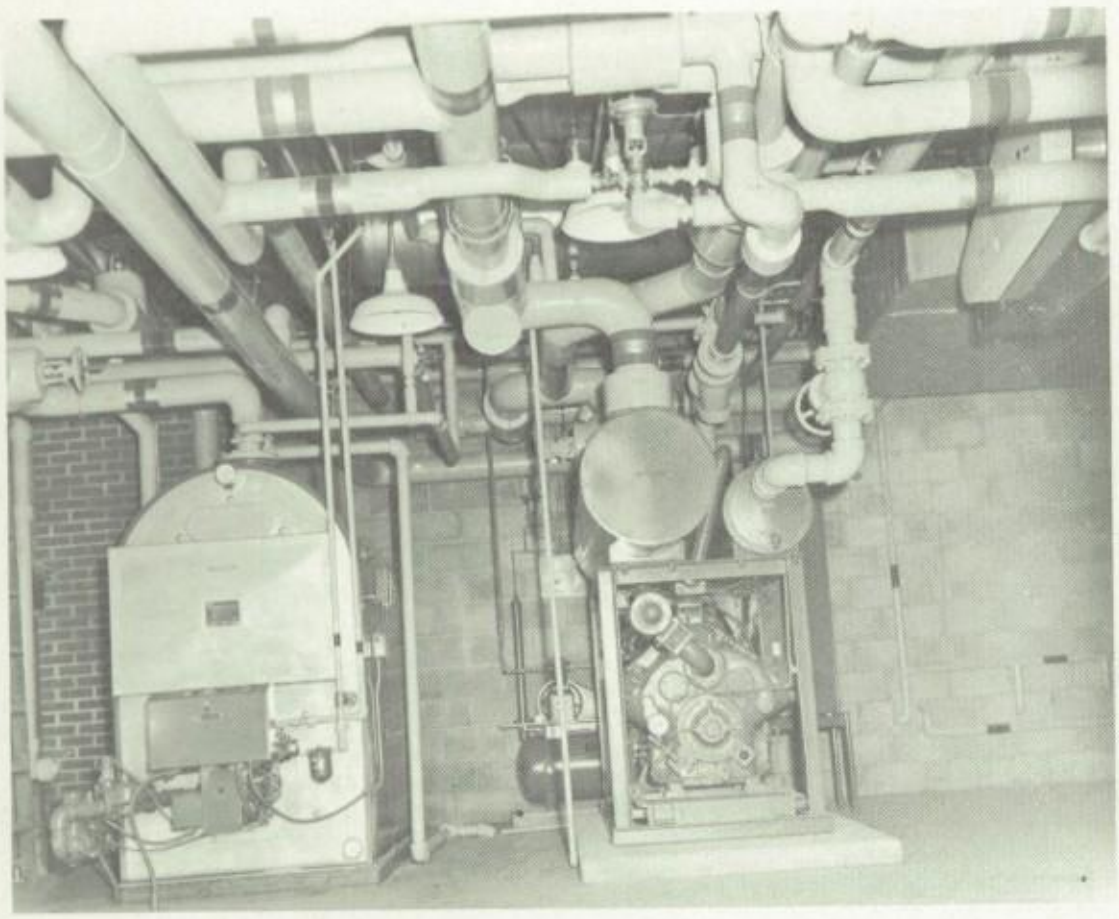






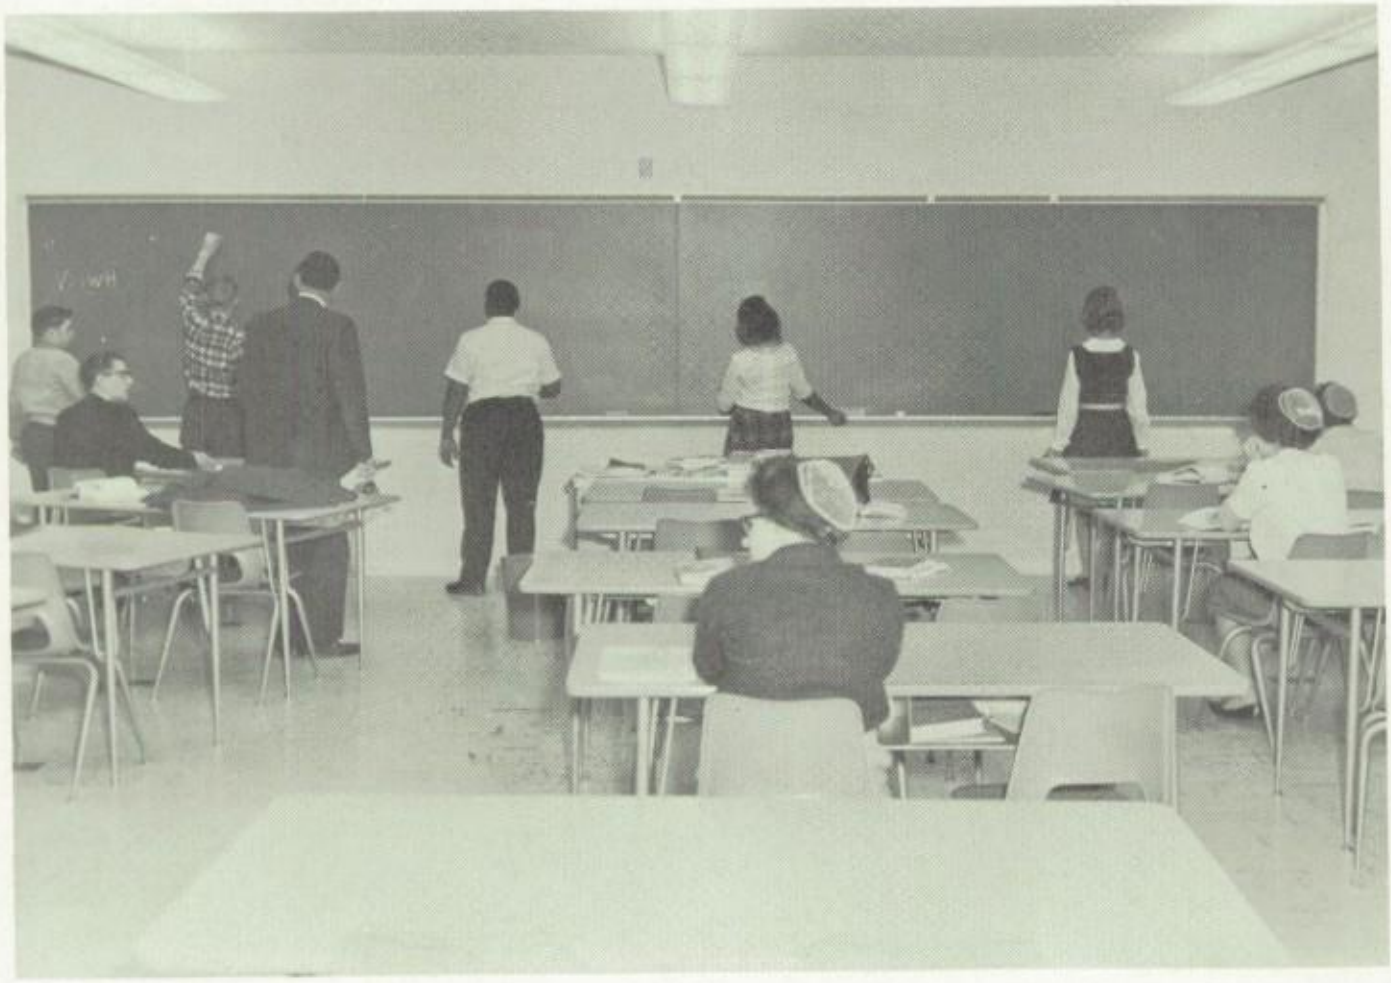
Mrs. Shank in the receptionist's office does a good job of correcting mixed up students and being secretary to Director Mr. Byler.

From mud, lumber, bricks, scaffolding, and steel came the school we are proud to own.



Here is where the comfortable climate control originates.

Mrs. Miller assists Gale Maust with his part as David in David the Shepherd Boy. Music, private voice, music, the piano, music, Mrs. Miller: this is Room 1.



Eighth graders practice their skills in arithmetic fundamentals in the business room.

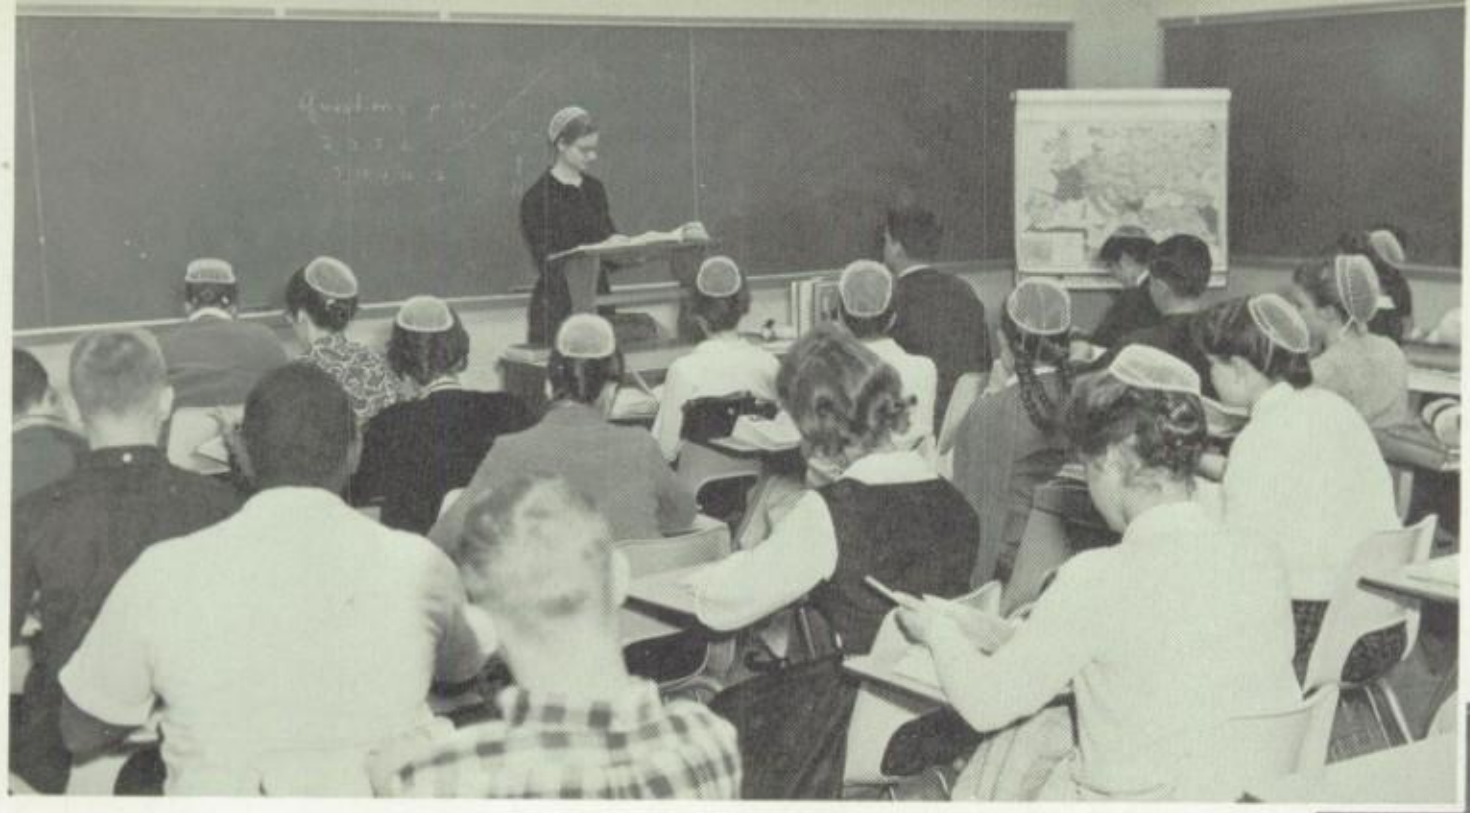
The teachers' lounge is one of the new facilities our instructors now enjoy.

Mr. Landis's English room is used for senior homeroom, eighth grade English, senior English, and study hall. Here Mr. Good expounds on a profound idea in personal evangelism.

The home. ec. girls couldn't wait to start cooking in this model kitchen.

The typing room is not often seen this empty.

Even though the students come and go, the math room is Miss Lefever's living room during the day.



You could find Mr. Krall in the faculty lounge this period instead of in this familiar setting of the history room.

Students record and listen to themselves on the tape recorders installed for the new electronic earphones.

The folding curtains between Mr. Krall's and Mr. Miller's rooms are opened up for junior homeroom.

Miss Beachy has always told her students if they get sleepy in English they may stand up awhile.

Magazines and easy chairs are tempting even when studying is necessary.
